MAYOR D. A. YEISER REFUSED TO ATTACH HIS NAME TO PAPER

Declined to Concur in the General Council's Police Resolution.

The Mayor Openly Favors Adding $7,020 a Year to the Burden of the Taxpayers.

The appended resolution is one adopted last night by the board of aldermen and signed by the president of the two branches of Paducah's legislative boards, protesting to the state senate against the passage of the Head police bill, which is designed to compel the city of Paducah to support more patrolmen than are believed to be necessary.

It was asked that Mayor D. A. Yeiser also sign the resolution, as mayor of the city, but he declined to do so. He has been personally in favor of the bill all the time, but it was thought that as chief executive of the city, he would sign it as a courtesy to the city's representatives, the members of the general council, who are the real authorities to express the city's views on the subject.

It has been reported that the mayor wrote to Frankfort in his official capacity, endorsing the bill, which if true would have been entirely unauthorized, as he does not represent the sentiment that prevails in Paducah, but when asked about it today, the mayor denied that he had written endorsing the bill officially.

The resolution, however, is as follows:

Paducah, Ky., Feb. 21, 1906.
To the Representatives of McCracken
County, in the Kentucky
Legislature, Frankfort, Ky.

Dear Sirs:

The attention of the general council of Paducah has been directed to a bill which has been introduced in and passed by the lower house, fixing the maximum number of policemen to be employed by any city of the second class in this commonwealth.

We feel we would be remiss in our duty as representatives of the people of Paducah, were we to permit such a measure to be enacted without entering a protest in the name of the people and calling your attention to the injustice that would ensue from the enactment of such a measure, as it would apply to the City of Paducah alone at this time, and in view of the reasons which we believe prompted its introduction, we ask in the interests of our city and other second class cities which may in the future be added, that you examine this measure exhaustively before arriving at a decision to impose such hardship upon the citizens of Paducah.

When the present general council was inducted into office, after a careful investigation of conditions connected with the proper policing of the city, it was the unanimous belief of that body, that a more economical administration of that department of the city might be effected without depriving the citizens of the protection to which they were entitled.

In the apportionments for the coming year, the general council fixed the amount for police purposes with a view of reducing the force to a number actually demanded by existing conditions and eliminating only that portion that appeared, in the judgment of that body, to be extravagant and wasteful.

A short time since, committees from every second class city in this commonwealth met in the city of Lexington, Kentucky, to recommend such measures as they deemed expedient and wise, but the measure herein referred to, was not included in the list of recommendations made by cities of that class.

It is the belief of the general council of the City of Paducah that this act would be arbitrary and in direct opposition to free government and home rule. That body believes the city most concerned has a clearer conception of the necessities of its immediate municipality than do people from the state at large.

It is the judgment of that body that the proposed act would burden the people with an unnecessary expenditure of public funds from which no adequate returns would result. It is the belief of that body

Horrific Death of a Woman Near Danville, Ky.

Danville, Ky., Feb. 23.—Mrs. Alice Baker, wife of a prominent farmer, was crushed to death by a huge log rolling off the wagon and passing over her body. She was watching her husband and other men load timber when the accident occurred.

Court House Damaged By Dynamite, Richmond, Va., Feb. 23.—An attempt was made last evening to wreck the Floyd county court house with dynamite. Circuit Judge Moffett is presiding. The explosion tore a hole in the building in the rear of the judge's bench. The Judge had granted bail to Fred Hoback, an accused murderer, and it is thought this had something to do with the attempt to wreck the court house.

LIGHT COMMITTEE MAY MAKE REPORT

Contract Will Probably Be Made for 75 Lights.

The City Will Furnish the Remainder, Thus Showing the People
What's What.

THE PRICE IS SATISFACTORY

The aldermanic light committee will probably bring in a report on the street car company's proposition for lighting the streets at the aldermen meeting tonight.

The company has made another proposition to the committee by which it proposes to furnish 75 lights to the city at a satisfactory price, the city to supply the balance it needs.

The council boards, it is said, are in favor of the proposition, as in this way they will have an opportunity to compare the two services,—the city's and the street car company's after a year's trial.

A majority of the two boards was opposed to the proposition of the company's to take over the city plant for ten years and furnish all the lights, notwithstanding the fact that the proposition meant a big saving to the city,—about $7,000 a year, in fact.

The proposition is for the city to continue to furnish 125 of the present lights and the company 40, and the company will furnish the additional lights required which at present would be 35, making a total of 200.

The members of the council deem the proposition made, the details of which were not given out, as the best one yet offered, and in all probabilities it will be accepted.

The price of the lights to the city will be $62.50, the same price quoted on the 200 light proposition.

Very Much Like Spring.

The temperature the past several days has been very mild and from all appearances spring is here. The highest yesterday was 67. Drummers coming from the south claim that the flowers are all blooming as far up as Memphis, the same as during the summer time.

DEATHS OF A DAY OF LOCAL INTEREST

Uncle of the Messrs Katterjohn Dies in Indiana.

Funeral of the Late Mrs. Ferguson Held Today—Mrs. T. H. Rouse's Funeral.

DR. COYLE REPORTED DEAD

Mr. Herman Katterjohn has gone to Moonville, Ind., to attend the funeral of his uncle, whose death is thus given in a dispatch:

Boonville, Ind., Feb. 21.—John F. Katterjohn, aged 62, and one of Boonville's wealthiest citizens, died here at his home this morning at 3 o'clock from an attack of asthma and muscular rheumatism. He had been sick for some time and took to his bed two weeks ago. He is a veteran of the civil war.

He leaves many relatives and of his family two sons and one daughter, and wife survive. Charles M. Katterjohn, manager of the Cumberland Telephone company at Evansville, is one of the sons and Quincy Katterjohn of Boonville, part owner of the Katterjohn roller mills, is the other son. His only daughter is Mrs. Armond Tweedy of Boonville. He has many relatives in Dubois county and at Holland, Ind., his birthplace. He also has relatives in Henderson, Paducah and Owensboro, Ky.

Mr. Katterjohn was regarded as one of the best milling men in Indiana, having been in that business for over forty-five years.

He was at the time of his death vice-president of the Boonville People's bank, a stockholder in the Old National Bank of Evansville, and also in the State Bank at Indianapolis. He was an ex-auditor of Warrick county and was a staunch republican.

The company has made another proposition to the committee by which it proposes to furnish 75 lights to the city at a satisfactory price, the city to supply the balance it needs.

The council boards, it is said, are in favor of the proposition, as in this way they will have an opportunity to compare the two services,—the city's and the street car company's after a year's trial.

The members of the council deem the proposition made, the details of which were not given out, as the best one yet offered, and in all probabilities it will be accepted.

The price of the lights to the city will be $62.50, the same price quoted on the 200 light proposition.

Mrs. Ferguson's Funeral.

The remains of the late Mrs. Zilla Ferguson were brought to the city at 7 o'clock last night from La Center, Ballard county, where she died the night before from burns received over a week ago. They were taken to the residence of Mr. S. C. Vaughan, at Fifth and Harrison streets, and this morning at 10 o'clock the funeral services were conducted at the First Christian church, the Rev. B. W. Bass officiating. The burial was at Oak Grove. The pallbearers were: Messrs. Eli Guthrie, W. F. Paxton, James A. Rudy, Van Burnett, J. Henry Smith and J. K. Bondurant.

Died at Fulton.

Mrs. Camille McClain, wife of A. C. McClain, died at Fulton. The deceased was formerly Miss Camille Dublin, of Graves county. Her husband is the son of J. A. McClain and holds a responsible position in the I. C. freight depot at Fulton.

Reported Death in West.

It has been reported for several days past that Dr. J. E. Coyle, formerly of Paducah, died somewhere in Oklahoma, where he went when he left Paducah two or three years ago, but the report cannot be confirmed. Some man from the west was the first to bring the information, and he has left the city. The report has spread among the doctor's many friends, and when a Sun reporter attempted to trace it to its source, found that it originated from what was said in a barber shop "Daddy" Root, who has been in the west for two or three years, will be here in a day or two, and it is expected to ascertain from him whether or not Dr. Coyle is really dead.

Gardner Leases Another Building.

F. N. Gardner & Co. have leased the house now occupied by the Paducah Fire company, at 116 and 118 South Third street, and will obtain possession in sixty days. The building will be lengthened to the full depth of the lot, about 80 feet additional, and remodeled in many details.

Desperate Legal Battle Waged to Save Him Today—Had Others Guessing.

HOCH CHEERFUL TO THE LAST

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 23.—A desperate legal struggle was waged to save Johann Hoch, the alleged bigamist and wife poisoner, from the gallows. Shortly before the time set for the execution, Attorney Comerford applied for a writ of habeas corpus, which was refused by Judge Laadls.

When Hoch heard this he said he would resist execution by physical force.

Comerford then filed a petition in the United States court asking interference on the ground that the fourteenth amendment to the constitution was violated in sentencing Hoch.

He leaves many relatives and of his family two sons and one daughter, and wife survive. Charles M. Katterjohn, manager of the Cumberland Telephone company at Evansville, is one of the sons and Quincy Katterjohn of Boonville, part owner of the Katterjohn roller mills, is the other son. REVENUE BILL

Arguments Are Being Made This Afternoon.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 23.—The revenue bill was called in the house and is now being discussed section by section. In the senate Jack Chan offered a substitute for the county unit bill to make the cities of the first five class cities in a unit by themselves, the rest of the state to be another unit. Indications are that the original of the amended bill will be voted on this afternoon.

BOARD ADJOURNED

ALDERMEN DID LITTLE AT LAST NIGHT'S SESSION.

Supt. Egan, of the I. C., Reports That Trains Will Be Stopped at Broadway.

The board of aldermen held a brief session last night, owing to its being Washington's birthday. All members were present.

A resolution was adopted protesting against the Head police-grab bill before the legislature at Frankfort, and will be forwarded to Senator J. Wheeler Campbell, but the mayor refused to attach his signature, claiming that he is in favor of the bill. No one will be sent to Frankfort to fight the bill.

GRIP-IT: the cold cure that does the work in 8 hours, and will not make you sick. Try it.

Central, was present last night and stated that he had arranged to comply with the city's request to stop incoming Cairo and St. Louis trains at Eleventh and Broadway, beginning Monday, and the board extended him its unanimous thanks.

Fills and accounts against the city were allowed last night, and on account of the doubt as to the propriety of proceeding with the regular business on a national holiday, the board then adjourned until to-night.

It is reported that some of the saloon-keepers who were refused a license at the meeting of the aldermen two weeks ago, will be present tonight to ask reconsideration of the vote, and thus make another effort to secure a license. It is not believed that the vote will be reconsidered.

Daily Thought.
"Every day neglected is the loss of something divine."

PUBLIC OFFICE NOT ALWAYS PLEASANT.

Evansville, Ind., is in the throes of a nasty squabble over granting a telephone franchise. Part of the people uphold the mayor and council in granting the franchise and part do not. The imbroglio has clearly demonstrated to the officials, most of whom are reputable business men serving their first terms, that public office is not always a pleasant possession.

Mayor Boehne, in an address before the Business Men's association, which has endorsed the executive and council, took a philosophical view of the "slings and arrows" of opponents of his public acts, and said:

"It should be remembered, however, that we represent no single portion of the interests of this city, nor any one class, but we have been delegated to serve the whole people, and all the interests irrespective of position or occupation; hence it shall always be our motto to be fair and just to all. Whatever our conscience tells us is right, we propose at all times to do: no unfair criticism, or malicious attacks will deprive us from doing that which we think is our duty. I assure you the road which the chief executive of our city has to travel is not always strewed with roses and carnations; the only pleasure and consolation I have thus far experienced is the consciousness of having done what I considered my solemn duty, as far as my ability reached. God himself will be the judge of what can be expected of a servant if that he be found true."

This is the way a fearless, manly public servant should feel, talk and act. Men are elected to office to use their best judgment in the interest of the people—not in the interest of any particular class, but in the interest of the whole people.

There will always be found more or less objection to anything that may come before a public board. Usually the antagonists of a move or measure are the only ones who are heard from, and sometimes they make considerably more noise, and create more confusion in the minds of the people's representatives than the merits of the case demand or justify.

If it is a cow, ordinance, a saloon license, a new street, a franchise or a hundred other things, somebody, and often many, are found who object to it. A city may go for years without needed utilities, facilities for travel, and other things, with never a move towards providing them at the expense of the people. But let private capital seek an investment and wiseacres will suddenly awake, stretch themselves, and get busy disseminating on tion that it is an effort of the money power to rob the dear people of their sacred rights, and send the community into everlasting corruption and ruin! It is usually safe, however, to follow the lead of the business interests of a town or city. The successful business men, as a rule, have won their spurs for honesty, sagacity and good judgment. They take a pride in upbuilding a city; a larger, more prosperous, more progressive city means more people, more business, more success and prosperity for the successful and prosperous, and they know it. Good business men, as a whole, cannot afford to be for any public measure that does not tend to benefit the city, and when the business interests favor anything, it is impossible for them to expect personal gain at the expense of the people in general, and improbable that their judgment is in error.

Hence, those who would put their judgment above that of such men, should first show by what token a community would be justified in accepting it. Every man has a right to his opinion, but men should have something more than that, before they expect others to accept their opinions as gospel.

They should ask themselves: "Have we made a success of our own business, our own aspirations, our own lives? If we are superior beings, have we anything to show for it? If we have done nothing for ourselves, can we convince others that we can do anything for them? May not others who have succeeded where we have failed, know more than we, after all, and be better advisers of the people?"

And if they are wise men, a true answer to their questions will indicate to them their proper place.

THAT POLICE BILL.

The general council of Paducah obviously has a hard fight on its hands to prevent the Head police bill going through the legislature. The object of this bill is so plain that it should have received, no consideration whatever in the legislature. Paducah now has twenty-four men in the police department. Under the Head bill it will have to have thirty-three. This may increase the police expenditures $7,020 a year, and this $7,020 will have to be paid by the taxpayers. The bill was "railroaded" through the house of representatives, doubtless because it was represented to some of the members as without opposition. The press dispatches sent out of Frankfort, when it passed the house stated that Representative Head had told the Democratic members that "it was a party measure," thus insuring their votes, and told the Republicans nothing, while the Republicans, thinking there was no opposition, voted for it, and the bill received unanimous support.

The announcement was made yesterday by officials who got the tip at Princeton yesterday. Mr. Jorgenson resigned the fore part of the week and his resignation is effective as soon as it is possible to relieve him. It is presumed this will be within a few days as Mr. Devney is now acquainting himself with the work of the chief dispatcher.

Mr. Jorgenson while visiting in Paducah last Sunday stated he was overworked; that the work was too hard for him. He had been called out of bed several nights in succession and the work was telling on him.

Mr. Jorgenson has not stated what he will do, but it is thought he will return to Paducah and engage in the insurance business again.

This is the proper way for all cities. The city collector, when conscientious, capable and fearless, will act as a check on the mayor and a boss-run council board. He may prove, in fact, one of the principal safeguards of the people."

The talk that comes from Kentucky that certain depredations over there were committed by "Yeggmen" who were quartered in or near Cairo is probably untrue, in so far as Cairo is concerned. Chief Egan says that the eighteen tramps arrested the other night by Officers Cowell, Nichols and Whitecamp were carefully searched by the arresting officers as was also the other squad arrested later; the purpose being to find evidence of crime; but nothing of this kind was found. Cairo Bulletin. No wonder they didn't find anything if they arrested tramps. The crooks suspected of these safe-blowings, live at Cairo and probably dress stylishly and are "good fellows."

Human nature is a strange thing. You often find men who have mismanaged their own affairs and made a failure in everything they have ever undertaken in life, and yet who imagine they can run every other man's business better than he can, and who willingly, if allowed to do so, would dictate the policy of city, county, state or nation, and do it with the firm conviction that they are doing better than anyone else could do it.

LOCK OF HAIR GROWS SEVERAL INCHES AFTER CUT.

Forty years ago a curly gray lock was cut from the head of Mr. Sam Lecky, now deceased, and grandfather of Judge J. W. Hocker, and placed between the leaves of the family bible, says the Mayfield Messenger. The hairs were about one inch long at the time. Imagine Judge Hocker's surprise Thursday when he opened the bible and found that the lock of hair had grown until they were fully seven or eight inches long.

Judge Hocker's mother cut the hair from the head of the aged gentleman and tied them together and placed them in the bible and the fact of their phenomenal growth is vouched for by her.

NEW DISPATCHES.

Jack Devney to Succeed Mr. Allan Jorgenson.

Mr. Jack Devney, a trick dispatcher on the Nas division of the L. C., is announced for promotion to the office of chief dispatcher of the Nashville division to succeed Mr. Allan Jorgenson, resigned.

The announcement was made yesterday by officials who got the tip at Princeton yesterday. Mr. Jorgenson resigned the fore part of the week and his resignation is effective as soon as it is possible to relieve him. It is presumed this will be within a few days as Mr. Devney is now acquainting himself with the work of the chief dispatcher.

Mr. Jorgenson while visiting in Paducah last Sunday stated he was overworked; that the work was too hard for him. He had been called out of bed several nights in succession and the work was telling on him.

Mr. Jorgenson has not stated what he will do, but it is thought he will return to Paducah and engage in the insurance business again.

ARE GREEDILY EYEING CONTINGENT FUND

Major Yeiser Says Apportionment Ordinance is Illegal.

Members of Boards, Only Smile and Wonder Why He Signed It, Then.

INTERESTING CITY MATTERS

Mayor D. A. Yeiser says he thinks the apportionment act passed by the council a few weeks ago is illegal, and that he so pointed out when he signed it.

The charter says the council shall apportion, for each department, as near as possible the amount to be expended in that department, and the council did not do this," he explained today. "Take the appropriation for the electric light plant, $8,000, I believe, was apportioned when we know it will take more than that. I understand the council has an allowance for it in the contingent fund, but this is not just according to law, as you will see."

That contingent fund is being eyed greedily by the city hall officials. The council, not knowing just what it would need for a good many departments, has apportioned $25,000 to that fund, and the city hall crowd seems to think the council has about appropriated all that is needed for the departments and will have a nice little sum to spend for luxuries, and they want to get a chance at it.

There is no doubt, seemingly, but they will make frantic efforts to do so, too. They tell you now, when asked where they will get the money for the police if they use up the apportionment, that "it can come out of the contingent fund."

The council, however, has uses for that fund,—good uses. In a few weeks it will take up the park question, and start a movement for a park or two, the light plant will be put in good condition, the other needed permanent improvements such as a concrete bridge for Caldwell street, the Island Creek bridge, and works of that nature will be taken care of, and these will be no more money than will be needed.

The tax rate will be $1.65, in all probability, and the council hopes to give the city all the improvements it needs, and have probably a little surplus left at the end of the year.

Mayor Yeiser Has Enough of Office.

The mayor is going to the dogs.

The congressional bugle is buzzing around the bonnets of a number of our distinguished men these warm spring-like days,—as "that is the kind of a bee it is," and it has been whispered that his honor had aspirations for that position.

When asked today, however, if he would be a candidate this year, or any other year, for Ollie James' place, the mayor said: "No, sir, no more offices for me. I am done when I retire from the mayor's office."

When asked what he intends to do then, he replied, "Go to the country and tend my dog kennels."

It is also whispered around, sometimes very loudly, too, that Mayor Yeiser has his eye on some of the county offices, and will stand for one of them when his term is out, but he denied today that he could be induced to run for any office.

May Take Saloon Cases Into Court.

It is said that an attorney representing the saloon men, who were denied licenses by the aldermen at the last meeting, will go before the board tonight in behalf of these saloons and if the board again refuses to grant the licenses, the matter will be taken into the courts. The aldermen say, however, that nothing can be gained by such action as they have the right to refuse any licenses for any saloon.

The Saloon District.

Ordinances, confining the saloons to certain districts will be brought in at an early meeting, as has been announced before. All saloon licenses expire with June and it is proposed to have the ordinances in force by that time.

Want a Down-Town Ticket Office.

The general council of Paducah secured an agreement from the Illinois Central railroad company to stop its incoming trains on the Calro and over-the-river divisions at Broadway, is after another favor from the railroad company which would be a good thing for the city—the establishment of a down-town ticket office.

It is proposed that the two roads, the Illinois Central and the N. C. & St. L., to establish a joint down-town office, and it is thought the companies will do it. A prominent official of one of these roads is quoted as

CHAINED TO A CORPSE.

Doleful Punishment of the Ancients Implicated in Our Modern Life.

The Romans used to punish a murderer by chaining to his body the corpse of his victim. Wherever he went he dragged behind him the debris of his crime, the sleazy cadaver, revolting thing that was once a man.

Every day you see people dragging around with them the corpse of their sins. They can't get away from them. And many of them have become so intimate with these corpses that they become corpses themselves. The misery of these poor unfortunate has become constitutional with them. It fits them like an old shoe. They have become accustomed to it.

And there are thousands of humans who are walking the earth today with corpses attached to them—dyspeptic stomachs they can't get rid of. They have to get along the best they can with the stomachs they have. And the owners of said dyspeptic stomachs are to be found in every walk of life, suffering from some form of indigestion, first cousin to dyspepsia.

They wear that forlorn appearance, their energy is at zero, nothing interests them, and they interest no one, their faces are shrunk, their nerves are wilted and their shoulders sag. Are you one of the myriads who dandle and gratify their palates at the sacrifice of their stomachs? Are you one of those who allow their senses to run riot, eating too much drinking too much, eating at the wrong time, eating the half-cooked, the queer and the impossible?

Are you bloated after eating, and imagine that it is your food that fills you? Do you have nausea when you look upon this or that, rebel at one thing and be hungry for it, too, at the same time? And have you got a whole lot of other things the matter with your stomach that you know about but nobody else does, and can't explain? If so, you have dyspepsia, real dyspepsia. And the chances are you have had it a long time.

Your stomach is overworked, abused, fagged out. The gastric and digestive juices are weak, the muscles of the stomach are jaded, and the whole business needs new life. It needs something which will take hold of the food as it comes in and do

HESPER

BY HAMLIN GARLAND

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY HAMLIN GARLAND

"A company of mounted police which I have organized to keep order here in the camp. The lookout leaves many men idle, and the local authorities need help to maintain peace and quiet. My force represents the union and its desire to prevent violence in the camp. You are quite safe here under our protection."

"You are very kind," replied Ann. "But aren't you one of those for whom the sheriff comes?"

Munro laughed a silent, boyish laugh. "I believe I am included in his list of notables, but I assure you the hour is quite undeserved."

"The true he kicked Mackay down the hill and put the mouth of his gun to his ear," said Kelly, "but that's a trifle not worth mentioning."

Munro winked. "A mere practical joke."

With the punctilious grace of a dancing master he bowed himself out, swinging to his saddle and galloped away.

"When shall we start on our trip?" asked Ann, turning to Raymond.

"I will bring the horses round very soon." As they stepped outside, he turned to Kelly and asked in a low voice, "Do you see my objection to this trip to Bozé?"

"Divil u bit. The sheriff will find Jack and his men waitin' for him on the road. He'll get no farther than Sage Hen flat this night. I'm goin' to ride down the hill myself just to know what's goin' on. Go ahead, lad; only don't loiter." The big fellow smiled, "tict back before sunset, whatever ye do."

Raymond resented Munro's call and forced introduction to Ann more deeply than he cared to admit even to Kelly. It hurt him to think that Ann's hand had lain within the clasp of a man to whom women had ever been merely a lower order of life, to be used as playthings.

"And yet I cannot say anything to her," Raymond said to himself. "I can't tell her what his life is. I dare not even hint at it. But I can stop his coming!" And his lips straightened grimly—"and that I will do!"

CHAPTER XIV.

AT 2:30, prompt as a groom, Raymond brought the horses round to the door. Midwinter though it was, the sun was clear and warm, and as they went winding down the trail to the southwest Ann excinced over the exquisite quality of the air, the crystalline clarity of the distant peaks and the cloudless serenity of the sky.

After a short and steep descent they came out onto a wagon road and were able to ride side by side.

"You must be prepared for very poor goods and very small stores," said Rob. "Hole is by no means to be compared even with Valley Springs. Everything is temporary. No one really intends to live there; they are all just staying and I fear the millinery is not of the latest fashion."

"What a power lies in the idea of gold! See the people who have come from all over the world! Don't tell me that every European language is spoken here. Did I see Perry, the Mexican boy, at your cabin this morning?"

"Yes, Perry is here, and so is Baker. You have cause to remember Baker."

When they entered the town Ann said:

"Please take me to a shop where I can get some chairs and a small table. I am going to present Mrs. Kelly with an easy chair."

"Very well," said he. "I know the very place, but please do not go about the streets alone. Of course you are perfectly safe, but you are a stranger and might wander into the wrong doors. Wait till I tie the horses and do one or two errands, then I will join you, and we can go where you please."

"Very well," she replied, with a feeling of pleasure in his care of her. "I will want to visit several shops."

When Raymond returned the second time he was breathing rapidly. "Some one has borrowed our horses," he explained quietly, "and I must ask you to wait a little longer while I secure another for you."

"Will they not return them?"

"I am afraid not. They have probably gone up the hill to join Munro's men, and they will be returned at the stable. If you are not afraid—"

"Oh, no; I am not afraid!"

He looked at her in admiration. "I don't believe you are scared. Well, now, stay here till I can see what I can do about a horse."

Again Ann stood alone in the doorway, watching a group of men crouching on the flat roof of a two-story and you can't do it."

The crowd, moved by some sinister impulse, closed round the sheriff and Kelly, cutting them off from the main body of deputies. This movement opened a way of escape, and, expecting each moment to hear the crackle of guns, Raymond hurried Ann across the street and into the musty waiting room of the livery barn.

"Where is that team?" he shouted to a hostler who was looking out of a side door.

"The boss took it."

"Whose horse is this with the saddle on?"

The hostler looked down for a moment. "Superintendent of Leadstone."

"Maynard's?"

"Yep."

"I thought so. Well, you tell him that Bob Raymond borrowed him for a lady." He turned to Ann. "Come; we must get out of this."

She obeyed like a child, all her impulsive nature in abjection to his will. Lifting her to the saddle, he led the horse out the back way and through an alley into the main street and so to the hills. As they reached a fairly level spot in the trail he turned and looked back over the roofs of the houses.

The sheriff is retreating—wherein he shows good sense! He pointed above them, where on Pine mountain Munro's vedettes stood waiting, backed by a thousand miners, jocular with battle hunger, shouting faint defiance.

"I am sorry to be such a burden to you," said Ann. "I know you longed to be there with Matthew Kelly, and I have forced you to fight."

"It's hard to tell. I wish we were safely out of this."

"Can't we run?"

"Run! Dear girl, you couldn't walk four blocks in this altitude. If you will come with me we will cross to the barn and get our carriage there."

Unconsciously clinging to his arm, Ann went down the back street as in a dream.

They were already too late. The cross street was packed with men, and, looking down the hill, they saw the sheriff and his posse coming six abreast like a squad of cavalry, riding slowly up between the walls of stern and silent citizens of the great camp. Each deputy carried a rifle across the pommel of his saddle, and at their head, preceding even the sheriff, rode Matthew Kelly. His head was bare, and in his hand a long revolver gleamed. There was something in his face, in the lift of his head, that awed men. As he came he called out, not loudly, but every word could be heard:

"Alas, now, boys! Respect the law. Alas, I say! This is no fight of yours. Down with your guns. There are women and children to think of. Kape the peace!"

Raymond looked at Ann with eyes whose light amazed her. "By the Lord, I wish I were by his side!" He spoke through his set teeth.

"Go!" she said. "Do not mind me. Go help him."

Her voice recalled him.

"No, my place is here!" and his look meant more than any word he had ever dared to speak to her.

In the square Kelly halted, and the sheriff, throwing up his hand, commanded silence. He was visibly trembling, but he blustered to his purpose. "Where is your mayor and your chief of police?"

The chief stepped forth. "Here I am! What do you want of me?"

"I want you to deliver to me the man who assassinated Mackay."

The chief waved his hand toward the hills. "They are up there; go get them!" and a roar of derisive applause went up.

Kelly raised his hand. "Boys, hear me! This is the sheriff."

Babit of mixing in—but it was only a flash, for you were beside me." And then he added, "And you are more to me than any other thing in the world."

She had no reply to this, no neat turn of phrase, no smile. She looked away in silence, her breath a little rattled, her throat contracted.

In fear of the effect of his words, Raymond hastened to the impersonal. "If this trouble is turned aside it will be due to Matt."

"Why should they obey him? Is he an officer?"

"Not now, but he was the first marshal of the camp and afterward chief of police. Everybody knows him, and his influence is as great as that of any man in this. His presence here today undoubtedly prevented a desperate battle."

As they neared the Kelly cabin Raymond said: "I am deeply chagrined by this experience. I really thought we were going away from disorder."

"Please do not trouble your mind with it any more," she answered decisively. "It was an experience which will give me something new to think about."

Kelly did not return till late. At about 9 o'clock he knocked at Raymond's door. "Get your gun," he said quickly. "We're on guard tonight."

And together they paced to and fro on the hillside, listening to the yells of drunken men up the street and to distant gunshots as the storm of battle swept away to the south of them. By midnight all was silent. The sheriff's forces were either repulsed or captured.

A Wonderful Record.

As made up by improved and exact processes Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing all the vital functions into action. It cures the backache, periodical headaches, the dragging-down distress in the pelvic region, the pain and tenderness over lower abdominal region, dries up the pelvic catarrhal drain, so disagreeable and weakening, and overcomes every distinctly feminine ailment.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, the makers of which are not afraid to print their formula on the bottle wrapper, thus taking their patrons into their full confidence. It is the only medicine for women, every ingredient of which has the strongest medicinal effect. It is the most eminent medical practitioners and writers of our day recommending it for the diseases for which "Favorite Prescription" is used. It is the only put-up medicine for women, sold through druggists, which does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, especially so deleterious to delicate women. It has more genuine cures to its credit than all other medicines for women combined, having saved thousands of sufferers from the operating-table and the surgeon's knife. It has relieved delicate women to strong and vigorous health and vitality, making motherhood possible, where there was barrenness before, thereby brightening and making happy many thousands of homes by the advent of little ones to strengthen the marital bonds and add sum to the gloom and despondency her religion before.

Confusion at Newport.

Newport, Ky., Feb. 23.—News leaked out that the major portion of the litigation of the Campbell circuit court transacted between January 1 and February 3, is null and void owing to illegal service of summons and legal papers by one who was not an officer of the court. The term of office of Sheriff Daniel Riedel expired December 31. The term of his successor, John H. Nagel, began January 1. When Mr. Riedel ceased to be sheriff his deputies, Chris Millius and Chas. Davis, also ceased to hold office. February 2 Commonwealth's Attorney W. A. Burkamp learned that Mr. Davis, the court deputy, had not been sworn in, as rigidly prescribed by the statutes, and that he had been acting as a deputy sheriff or court deputy for more than a month, serving legal papers. Davis was sworn in as soon as the discovery was made.

PURE FOOD BILL

WAS YESTERDAY PASSED BY THE U. S. SENATE.

Prohibits Misbranding and Adulteration of Drugs and Food of Every Description.

Washington, Feb. 22.—After fifteen years of more or less serious consideration of the subject, the senate yesterday passed the Pure Food bill by a vote of 63 to 4. The vote was taken after a day devoted almost exclusively to a debate of a desultory character on the measure. Several efforts were made to amend the bill and the committee accepted a number of suggestions, but only those thus accepted were incorporated in the bill as passed.

The bill makes it a misdemeanor to manufacture, adulterate or misbrand foods, drugs, medicines or liquors in the District of Columbia, territories and insular possessions of the United States and prohibits the shipment of such goods from one state to another or to a foreign country. It also prohibits the receipt of such goods.

Punishment by a fine of $500 or imprisonment of one year or both, is prescribed. In the case of corporations, officials in charge are made responsible.

The bill also defines foods, drugs, medicines and liquors and also defines standards for them. There is an exemption for dealers who furnish guarantees against adulteration and misbranding.

The river is on a stand here, the gauge today registering 8 feet. No rise is looked for unless there are some good rains soon. Owing to low water the John A. Wood and W. W. O'Neill, which passed up this week with tows of empties, were unable to get through the canal at Louisville and are tied up at West Louisville until there is a rise.

The ice has passed in the upper Ohio and navigation is now open as far as Wheeling for light draft boats.

The Sprague passed up early this morning with a big tow of empties. There were fifty-six barges in the tow.

The Peters Lee was late in getting in today, and did not arrive until 3 this afternoon. She had a good trip.

Reports from the Rees Lee are that she will be a total loss. All the freight is about off now, but the boat seems beyond recovery.

The Kentucky arrived this morning from the Tennessee with a good trip. She gets out again tomorrow.

The Inverness came in from Tennessee river today with a tow of ties for the Ayer & Lord Tie Co., and will leave today for the Cumberland.

The Margaret came out of the Tennessee today with a tow of ties for Ayer & Lord and leaves again tomorrow for the Tennessee.

The Joe Fowler was the Evansville packet today.

The Bald Eagle, of the Leyhe fleet, which has been harboring here all winter, will probably get away for St. Louis tomorrow in command of Capt. "Buck" Leyhe and George Street.

Capt. Eagon does not expect to get away with the government light house boat Lily for St. Louis, before March 15th.

The first of the Leyhe fleet to leave for St. Louis will be the Bald Eagle, which will depart Saturday and resume her trade out of St. Louis Monday afternoon. It has not been decided when the others will begin to leave.

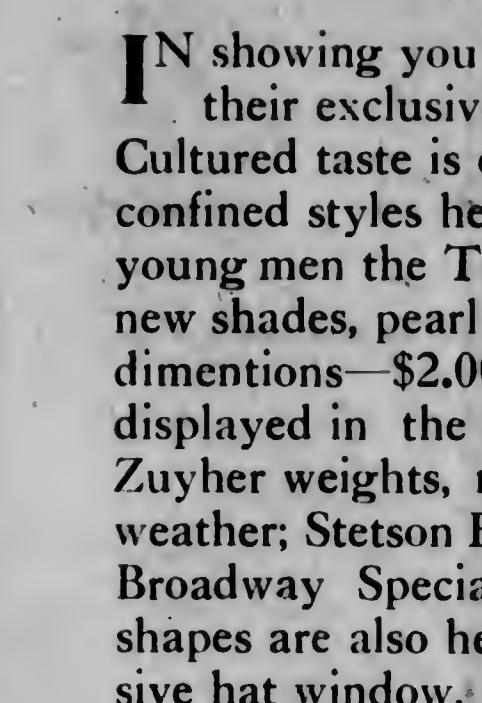

Judge Joseph Buffington, of the United States District Court at Pittsburgh, has ordered the Union Bridge company to pay a fine of $5,000 and the costs of prosecution for its failure to obey the mandate of the Secretary of War to raise the Union Bridge over the Allegheny river to a point high enough to permit navigation. The case has been before the courts for more than a year.

The John A. Wood and tow arrived at Louisville from New Orleans and the W. W. O'Neill and tow are expected. Both will lie up to wait for a rise to go back south.

Towboats will soon be towing shanty boats back from the south that went down in the early fall to spend the winter.

Al Franklin and John Douglas were pilots to New Orleans and back on the John A. Wood.

The J. B. Finney was floated off Shawneetown, Ill., Wednesday, after having been aground for several hours. * * * The Wabash arrived Wednesday from Cumberland river with barges laden with lumber, but was compelled to leave one barge bound off Henderson island.—Item.

CONGRESSMAN JAMES
Knocked Out the $2,700 Appropriation for Knox's Portrait.

Washington, Feb. 23.—Representative Ollie James yesterday delivered a knockout blow to the proposition to pay $2,700 for a picture of Senator (former Attorney General) Knox, to be placed in the department of justice. James made an objection which caused the provision to be stricken out of the general deficiency bill in the house. The senate conferees have been trying to have it re-stricken.

James today saw Representatives Tawney, Litman and Livingston, the house conferees, and notified them that he will attack the conference report when it comes up in the house if it contains the objectionable item. The house conferees notified the senate conferees, and the item was dropped.

Crazy Negro in Cadiz Jail Runs Amuck With a Knife.

Cadiz, Ky., Feb. 23.—Rich Jones, the negro given ten years in the penitentiary at the recent term of the Trigra circuit court for attempting criminal assault upon a little negro girl near Linton, and still in jail here awaiting the action of his attorneys in an appeal, became enraged and made an attack upon his fellow prisoners with a knife. He first attacked J. M. Burgess, white, and but for the timely assistance of Wash Gaither, colored, he would doubtless have killed Burgess. He cut Burgess with a knife, cutting the waistband of his trousers about three inches, the knife going through all his clothes. Gaither came to the assistance of Burgess, whereupon Jones turned on him and inflicted a bad gash across the right side of his head several inches long and to the bone. Burgess and Gaither succeeded in knocking him down and dragging him into a cell and closing the door on him.

Jones would not give up the knife and a rope was put through the bars into his cell and he was caught around the feet and held while some one went in and secured the knife from him after which he was placed in one of the down-stairs cells.

sound mind.

It is a mystery to Jailer Timmons and the prisoners as to where Jones got the knife.

F. is rapidly growing and another lodge will shortly be installed in Mechanicsburg.
